1. Pursuant to the demands raised by Walter Ulbricht at a conference of scientists and engineers on 15 June 1954, the HV R-F-T (Main Administration for the Radio Engineering Industry) was split into two production departments. Several engineers made suggestions for a reorganization of the HV R-F-T.
2. The GDR Ministry for Machine Construction sought a person qualified to reorganize the HV R-F-T. At first, Prof Dr Hans Fruehauf, who, prior to his appointment as professor at the Dresden Institute of Technology, was technical manager of VVB R-F-T, was contacted. Fruehauf however, rejected this offer. Thereupon Professor Jo-~~sef~~ Stanek was approached. He accepted the offer. Stanek plans to establish a central development institute for the radio and telecommunication industry. In late August 1954, no definite plans had been made for a reorganization of the technical and commercial departments of the HV R-F-T.
3. On 12 August 1954, Morthien (fnu), manager of the Sachsenwerk Plant at Radeberg was released. Voigt (fnu) was made acting manager. Prior to this assignment, Voigt had been manager of the VEB Fernmeldewerk Arnstadt and, before that, chief of VVB R-F-T.
